

BENEFITS OF 3v3 FUNiño

- The two wide goals at each end encourage young players to use the wings in attack and open up the play.
- Playing with 2 goals stimulates greater reading and understanding of the game, including peripheral vision, perception and decision-making skills before executing any actions.
- Stimulates, more than any other traditional football game, intelligence, perception, imagination and creativity.
- Sufficient space and time allows children to read the game and play constructive football and to develop basic communication skills.
- More time and space, better reading of the game and better decision-making and skill execution means less mistakes.
- Due to the fact that the same basic game situations appear again and again (i.e. the 2v1 situation) the young players learn very quickly.
- In FUNiño, kids enjoy more touches on the ball, treating it as their best friend. No long clearances or wild and dangerous kicks can be seen in which players “violate the ball”.
- Players attack and defend in a triangular formation for better communication and collaboration. Positioning in the field is easy.
- Allows an all-round development of all participants as there are no fixed positions in a team which would avoid too early specialization. Everybody has to attack as well as to defend, using the whole pitch.
- Usually there are lots of goals and goalmouth action.
- Each player scores more than one goal per game.
- All the players get to experience a starring role in this dynamic game.
- All 3 players, including the weaker ones, play a critical role in this game and are involved mentally and physically throughout the game. Nobody can hide!
